

CHASE AND SEYMOUR.

An Interesting Chapter of Secret History. Colonel William Brown, of Nicholasville, Kentucky, made a speech before the Grant Club of Frankfort, on the 20th. Colonel Brown was in the confidence of the Chief Justice during the period that he had under consideration the overtures made to him by the secessionists of the Democratic party, and he gives calmly, clearly, and fully, the history of the connection of the Chief Justice with the New York Convention, explaining the motives of Mr. Chase, and the purposes and strategy of his friends in the Convention, and detailing the part taken by Governor Seymour, and the means employed by the reactionists to defeat Chase with Seymour.

We quote a few passages, which show the craft of Seymour and his friends:—At night, on the 8th of July, Mr. Horatio Seymour still protested that he was for Mr. Chase; but Mr. Chase had friends who doubted Mr. Seymour's sincerity from the first, and who believed that he was acting with duplicity. To be sure that Mr. Seymour was sincere, it was arranged before the break-up on the morning of July 9 that he should be put in nomination by a friend of Mr. Chase's, in order to force him from cover, and compel him to reveal his true policy. On the very ballot that he was nominated, his name was voted for by a gentleman from the Convention by a gentleman from a Southern State, who is young, intellectual and courageous, and who was a warm advocate of Mr. Chase's nomination. The object of this movement was to crush Seymour's treasury, and he intended any; but it was defeated by the superior strategy of the reactionists.

The only hope they had after Mr. Pendleton's defeat, was to secure a weak, nervous, and cowardly man, the first place on the ticket, who would make a bold, courageous, strong-willed reactionist for the Vice-Presidency, and in this attempt they succeeded so far as to excite my admiration of their tact, skill and courage. It was arranged at the Convention that a gentleman from Wisconsin, and which had been signed by nearly every German editor then in New York city, asking for the nomination of Mr. Seymour, be read to the Convention by Mr. Seymour, as its presiding officer, he having previously declined to nominate Mr. Chase himself on the ground that he was the President of the Convention; but I have been told by a gentleman now living in New York city, and whose veracity I have no reason to question, that on the morning of July 9, a short time before the Convention met, Mr. Seymour read to him from the manuscript a very clever, neat, and well-worded, said he would deliver to the Convention when Mr. Chase's name was brought before it, and he believes Mr. Seymour had that speech in his pocket when he was nominated, relying on Mr. Seymour and the New York delegates as reactionists met in the Convention on the morning of July 9, full of hope in the success of their plan. But a counter movement had been going on. This was the same.

These men, determined, with the aid of the Southern Rebels, to capture Horatio Seymour from the progressions and nominate him, knowing that this would so demoralize that faction as to give them absolute control of the Convention, and that what had occurred, he raised when they brought forward their own man for the Vice-Presidency, who had already been agreed on by the reactionists. It was the most successful movement ever made in this country in a national election, but it was a forlorn hope; any more courage on Mr. Seymour's part, any thought of how great men act in trying emergencies, any reflection on his part of the resolution displayed by Cesar at the Rubicon, by Huss at the stake, by Grant at Vicksburg, and any desire to emulate the example of these great men, would have covered the revolutionists with over-whelming defeat.

But they knew well their man. One led off. Mr. Seymour came in with his usual air of death-bled the great hall. Mr. Seymour, trembling with excitement and filled with fear, stood and pleaded for his character. It was a piteous sight. The poor man told of his promises; that when a refusal of the use of his name be made it, and that now his honor forbade it. Think of this, my hearers! He stood there and pleaded for his 'honor'!

When he had finished his appeal, he was boldly told that after what had occurred, his honor was now in the hands of the reactionists. One returned to the charge; the Rebels throughout the hall raised the same wild and savage yell which Hampton and Forrest had often charged the soldiers of the Union. It was too much for Mr. Seymour. Braver men than he had quailed before that battle cry; he hesitated, he yielded, then died ignominiously from the scene. All was now over. The demoralization of the progressions was complete, and the Rebels led it their own way. Hence, an unpardoned Rebel soldier could rise to his feet and propose the name of Francis P. Blair, Jr., the very prince of revolutionists, as the Vice-President of the nation. The same Rebel had fought to destroy Rebels again triumphed; the deed was done, and when the Convention adjourned, the happiest men in New York city were General William Preston, General Wade Hampton, and General B. B. Forrest, and they had good reason to be so, for, in the heart of the great North, they had achieved the greatest political victory of the present generation, and had done their work wisely and well. Thus, through the cowardice of one poor, weak man, perished the fairest and most auspicious movement in behalf of liberty and progress that this country has witnessed since the old bell at Independence Hall proclaimed the birth of our nationality.

To elect Mr. Seymour President would not only be ridiculous, it would be criminally so. With the restless spirit of Frank Blair hovering over him, surrounded by bold, strong-willed men like McCook, Hampton, Forrest, Seaman, and Vallandigham, he would be a goodly child. Like Hotspur's starting, he would be taught what to say, and he would say it. In three months after his inauguration he would not know whether he was in the White House or in bedlam, when he was the first man to be the victim of a night people, or a boot-black on Pennsylvania avenue.

CITY ITEMS.

BARGAINS offered in Summer Clothing and in Summer Goods, made to order, to close out stock. Assortment still good, but being rapidly closed out. All prices guaranteed lower than the lowest elsewhere, and full satisfaction guaranteed to every purchaser, or the sale cancelled and money refunded.

PHYSICAL EXHAUSTION.—Worn out with the burning heats of summer, the human system requires to be reinforced and regenerated at this season. Strength has literally been steaming out of it under a temperature that necessarily produces exhaustion. Fall is the season of remittent and intermittent fevers, and the weak and enervated are always their first victims. Now, therefore, is the time for invigoration. Those who have neglected to tone and regulate the digestive and secretory organs during the months of June and July, can no longer continue to do so without imminent peril to health and life. Commence a course of HOLLOWAY'S BITTERS without delay. Of all renovating, strength-sustaining preparations this is the most wholesome and the most potent. It does not unduly excite the most sensitive organization. Its mission is to preserve, regulate, and restore. The tonic, anti-bilious and aperient vegetable elements which it contains are associated in the exact proportions necessary to put the whole physique into perfect working order. The purity of all its ingredients is guaranteed. It rouses the languid appetite, gives unwonted energy to the digestion, calms and braces the nerves, and replaces lassitude and depression with energy and cheerfulness; besides being agreeable to the palate and free from all the objections urged against the adulterated stimulants and tonics, which it is designed to supply the place.

SPARK OF ELECTRICITY.

Says Brother Jonathan to John, While talking by the wire, "We've brought ourselves together, John, By this Electric Fire." "And now, while tight together bound" Says Jonathan to John, "We always in the cause of right Together will be found. The first dispatch we'll send across Will show the people where To go and set their wardrobes filled With clothing rich and rare."

"Thus we'll begin our work of good By telling folks to go And buy what's best they want to wear Of CHARLES STOKES & CO., No. 224 Chestnut street."

THE PENNSYLVANIA MILITARY ACADEMY.—The "Pennsylvania Military Academy," which is under the control of Colonel Hyatt is located at Chester, Delaware county, on a site of 100 feet, and externally is as handsome as internally it is complete. The new building is eminently adapted to the purpose for which it is designed; furnished with large and well-ventilated dormitories, with ample grounds for drill—cavalry infantry, and artillery—and all the conveniences and comforts of modern houses. We can safely say, from personal inspection, that nowhere can a finer building, more perfect in all its parts, be found, than the new Academy, near Chester.

JEWELRY.—Mr. William W. Cassidy, No. 12 South Second street, has the largest and most attractive assortment of fine jewelry and silvers in the city. Purchasers can rely upon obtaining a real, pure article furnished at a price which cannot be equalled. He also has a large stock of American watches in all varieties and at all prices. A visit to his store is sure to result in pleasure and profit.

WANT OF ENERGY.—Is one great cause of misfortune in business, as well as a neglect of household duties. The use of Speer's "Standard Wine Blenders" will effectually give tone and energy to the physical powers of the system, and remove lassitude. The Peruvian Bark contained in them, will also cure Ague. For sale by Johnston, Holloway & Co., and Fred. Brown, corner Fifth and Chestnut streets, and by other Druggists.

COLONEL HYATT, President of the Pennsylvania Military Academy, will be at Parlor C, Continental Hotel, to-morrow, Thursday, at 10 o'clock A. M., and invites Patrons of the Academy and others to call upon him upon official business.

750 MILES OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD

Are now finished and in operation. Although this road is but 17 with great rapidity, the work is thoroughly done, and is pronounced by the United States Commissioners to be first-class in every respect, before it is accepted, and before any bonds can be issued upon it.

Rapidly and excellence of construction have been secured by a complete division of labor and by distributing the twenty thousand men employed along the line for long distances at once. It is now probable that the WHOLE LINE TO THE PACIFIC WILL BE COMPLETED IN 1869.

The Company have ample means of which the Government grants the right of way, and all necessary timber and other materials found along the line of its operation; also 12,000 acres of land to the mile, taken in alternate sections on each side of its road; also United States Thirty-year Bonds, amounting to from $10,000 to $4,000 per mile, according to the difficulties to be surmounted on the various sections to be built, for which it takes a second mortgage as security, and it is expected that only the interest, but the principal amount may be paid in the services rendered by the Company in transporting troops, mails, etc.

THE EARNINGS OF THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD, from its Way or Local business only, during the year ending June 30, 1868, amounted to over FOUR MILLION DOLLARS,

Which after paying all expenses was much more than sufficient to pay the interest upon its Bonds. These earnings are no indication of the vast through traffic that must follow the opening of the line to the Pacific, but they certainly prove that

FIRST MORTGAGE BONDS ARE ENTIRELY SECURE.

The Union Pacific Bonds run thirty years, are for $1000 each, and have coupons attached. They bear annual interest, payable on the first days of January and July, at the Company's office in the City of New York, at the rate of six per cent. in gold. The principal is payable in gold at maturity. The price is 105 and at the present rate of gold, they pay a liberal income on their cost.

A very important consideration in determining the value of these bonds is the length of time they have to run. It is well known that a long bond always commands a much higher price than a short one. It is safe to assume that during the next thirty years, the rate of interest in the United States will decline as it has done in Europe, and we have a right to expect that such six per cent. securities as these will be held at an high a premium as those of this Government, which, in 1857 were bought at 110 and 25 per cent. above par. The export demand alone may produce this result, and as the issue of a private corporation, they are beyond the reach of political action.

The Company believe that their Bonds, at the present rate, are the cheapest securities in the market, and the right to advance the price at any time reserved. Subscriptions will be received in Philadelphia by DE HAVEN & BROTHER, No. 40 S. THIRD Street, W. PAINTER & CO., No. 36 S. THIRD Street, SMITH, RANDOLPH & CO., No. 15 S. CISCO & SON, BANKERS, No. 59 WALL Street, And by the Company's advertised Agents through out the United States.

Remittances should be made in drafts or other funds payable in New York, and the Bonds will be sent free of charge by return express. Paris a subscribing through local agents, will look to them for their safe delivery.

A PAMPHLET AND MAP FOR 1868 has just been published by the Company, giving fuller information than is possible in an advertisement, respecting the Progress of the Work, the Resources of the Country traversed by the Road, and Means for Construction and the Value of the Bonds, which will be sent free on application at the Company's office, or to any of the advertised agents.

Ocean Mail Service to be Discontinued.—The International Postal System—Minister Johnson and Disraeli. LONDON, Aug. 25.—It is said here that the ocean mail service between the United States and Great Britain, by the Southampton steamers, will soon be discontinued, and that the mails will all be sent by British steamers from Queenstown. Although this is known to be in accordance with a proposition made to Postmaster-General Randall some time since by the British postal authorities, through Mr. Trollope, Americans here hesitate to believe their Government has assented to an arrangement which would reduce the present service by nearly one-half, and deny mail carriage to several steamers which have proved to be among the fastest engaged in the trans-Atlantic traffic.
